

Joan Wood Lecture Series

Celebrating Women in Science. Showcasing Careers in Biology

Donna Cragle, Ph.D.,

- Director, Basic and Applied Research
- Director, Center for Epidemiologic Research for the Oak Ridge Institute of Science and Education will present . . .

Epidemiology: Wonderful Career Choice, or Secret Society?

February 15, 2006 | 4:00 p.m. | Myers Hall 130

After the lecture, meet the speaker and enjoy complimentary pizza and beverages in the Jordan Hall atrium.

For more information, visit http://development.bio.indiana.edu/wood\_lecture.htm

Dr. Cragle has been involved with research of occupational hazards in Department of Energy (DOE) facilities for 24 years. Most of her research has been in the area of occupational epidemiology with a focus on radiation and beryllium exposures. Dr. Cragle was recently awarded a $19.9 million cooperative agreement from the Department of Energy to provide medical screening for former DOE workers nationwide.

